

Lust

Lyrics © Sune Rose Wagner Kobalt Music Publishing Ltd.
Originally recorded by The Raveonettes

I fell out of heaven, to be with you in hell
My sins not quite seven, nothing much to tell
Lust I haven't craved, a sainted boy I'm not
I take it to my grave, a side cursed on rot

I ride these ropes alone, beneath the sulfur sky
Everywhere I roam, life is one big lie
When the fireball goes down, out by LA waste
I come into town, but only for a day

If starving in bed means, I pray for you to understand
The woman sure is sleek, but lost was my hand
I struggle and I cry, I pounce with no revenge
At least I never lied, Or took the truth to rail
